THE INKERMAN GROUP

BUSINESS RISK AND INTELLIGENCE COMPANY ENCOURAGES PERSONAL CAREER DEVELOPMENT IN THE WORKPLACE

31 MAY 2013, Operations Co-ordinator, Jill Watson, from Ashford-based specialist business risk and intelligence Company, The Inkerman Group, has been awarded a Level 3 NVQ Diploma in Security Management, having passed with distinction.

Jill has worked with The Inkerman Group for four years and is responsible for co-ordinating the 24/7 operations team, as well as essential management and administration of the company's international client base.

As an advocate of personal career development, The Inkerman Group encourages and supports all of its employees to attend industry-related courses and conferences wherever possible to enhance their existing qualifications. Jill credits the course for giving her an "even better understanding of the security industry", which has enhanced her ability to "support the operational management teams and directors on a day to day basis". Jill adds "areas of the course were challenging but I was lucky to have support from my colleagues whilst I was studying and I now feel that I have the essential key skills to professionally deliver the modern security management techniques, concepts and best practices required to protect a business and its assets."

Issued by Stonebridge Associated Colleges and accredited by NCFE, the UK's longest established awarding body, the course covered 15 different modules including, Rationale and Processes, Organisation and Planning, Management, Personnel, Budgeting, Decision-making, Security Threats, Systems, Project Management, Electronic Data Processing, Burglary and Theft, Hijacking, Abuse of Women, Child Abuse and Harassment at Work.

Jill is also heavily involved with the company's Female Travel Safety initiative, which provides training, tracking and advice to female business travellers, designed to improve efficiency, safety and security within organisations. Jill and all other female members of staff make up a team of specialist Female Travel Safe Security Advisors who are ambassadors for the campaign, which is being rolled out to organisations across the globe.
