THE INKERMAN GROUP

BAKER LEAVES MONDIAL / ALLIANZ FOR THE INKERMAN GROUP

09 February 2012 THE INKERMAN GROUP announced that Jody Baker has joined its Senior Management Team as Head of Business Development. His joining is in line as the Company signals its embarkation on a period of further business growth, both domestically as well as internationally.

The Inkerman Group's operational activity, particularly in the Middle-East, has given rise to an increase in its products and services and in its taking more market share. Baker's appointment is timely as he will play an integral and key role in driving these exciting and exacting ambitious opportunities forward. Baker will bring his heavyweight experience in both the insurance and travel markets to bear, especially in the delivery and promotion of the Group's extensive offering of Travel Safe products and services.

Commenting on his appointment, Baker explains "The timing for joining The Inkerman Group could not be better – it is both an exciting and challenging opportunity, and one where I will be able to influence through my experience of the marketplace. The Inkerman Group has cornered a niche in their offering and this can now be rolled out to more clients – it has a comprehensive range of products and services which it offers as bespoke, professional, responsive and intelligence-led security services, all of which it operates globally. I am delighted to have been chosen to be working with the team to realise its full potential business and growth."

Baker's already impressive CV illustrates his credentials in business development and, in particular, the Insurance market. He joins The Inkerman Group from Mondial Assistance / Allianz Global where he held a senior role as Head of Business Development for the past four years. His previous experience in senior client relationship roles, including at RBS, will bring an added dimension to the Company's management and capacity.

Gerald Moor, CEO adds "Jody joins The Inkerman Group at an important time for the business in this senior position – there is no doubt that he will play a significant and key part in our growth plans in the future. His proven record of successfully forging new client relationships at a senior level and his tenacity are qualities, which we rate as a business and which brings an added dynamic to the Management Team. Jody now ensures that he is joining an already strong senior team that are well-placed to take the business forward."
