PRESS RELEASE

MICHAEL ALLEN MBE APPOINTED DIRECTOR AT THE INKERMAN GROUP

JULY 2010, THE INKERMAN GROUP has announced that Michael Allen, MBE has been appointed Director of the newly established subsidiary company Inkerman Group Special Projects. The move comes just 18 months after Allen joined the company as Group Operations Manager in order to manage and grow the operational aspects of the Company's business.

Inkerman Group Special Projects has been established by the Company specifically to manage its operational services such as Travel Safe, Tracking, Specialist Event Security, Close Protection, CCTV Monitoring and Specialist Manguarding Services to clients. In addition, Allen takes responsibility for the Company's 24/7 Operations and Response Centre in Ashford.

Previous to joining The Inkerman Group, Michael's career includes 23 exemplary years in the British Army achieving senior rank within the Corps of Royal Engineers where he became an expert in both conventional Explosive Ordnance Disposal and Improvised Explosive Devices. Since leaving the Army, he has worked within the security industry sector in a variety of operational and commercial areas.

In 2002 Michael was awarded Member of the British Empire in the Queen's Birthday Honours list for his outstanding commitment and contribution to Explosive Ordnance Disposal in the Military Division.

Michael joined The Inkerman Group in 2008 and has brought a great deal of specialist operational experience and knowledge to the Group's activities; at a senior level, he has, and will continue to deliver all aspects of the Company's operational delivery to clients, both within the UK and throughout the world. This announcement today is a further endorsement of his contribution and expertise.

Commenting on his appointment, Mick explains "I am extremely pleased to be invited to take up this Directorship with the Company – it is both an exciting and challenging opportunity. The Inkerman Group has great potential – it continues to grow and develop its client base and specialist products and services within the security sector.

This is a particularly important growth time for the business,” he continues, “as the Company successfully secures new contracts, such as that of the event security services for the Lawn Tennis Association AEGON Championships tournaments, a contract which runs over the next three years. This expertise in event security is now fast becoming a mainstream part of the business hence the Company’s move to develop this service.” He adds “Giving the client what they want and delivering is the mantra of The Inkerman Group.”

Gerald Moor, CEO adds “I am delighted that Mick has agreed to accept this position of Director within the business. He does so at a critical point in the company’s development, and at the beginning of this exciting launch of a new Company subsidiary - there is no doubt that he will play a significant part in our growth plans in the future. He brings a great deal of knowledge and experience, particularly in the management of security issues for clients and operational service delivery.”
