THE INKERMAN GROUP SECURES NEW LONDON OFFICES

NOVEMBER 2010 THE INKERMAN GROUP has announced that its new offices in London are to be based at the prestigious 1 Cornhill address, in the City.

The move to secure these London offices is an important part of the Company's growth; its business has expanded and, as a result of experiencing a significant increase in the number of national and international corporate organisations as clients, it has been important to further strengthen its presence in the City.

"The Company's Headquarters and Operations Centre will continue to operate out of Ashford" explains Gerald Moor, CEO of The Inkerman Group "but having these London premises is in recognition of the fact that this is where many of our corporate clients are based, and in order to ensure that we continue to deliver the leading-edge services they require, we need a base here too."

The Company, having been established in 1996, works as international specialists in business risk and intelligence, delivering a wide range of travel safe, protection and security based services. It has an extensive client base and operates on a global basis.

The Inkerman Group's team has also grown significantly over the last 12 months and comprises personnel from government, defence, security and business backgrounds - its experience is unique and its ability to provide bespoke services to clients has proved to be an important selling point in the marketplace. Using latest technology and intelligence, together with its in-house operational expertise, has resulted in its being able to provide cohesive and integrated security solutions for its clients, wherever they are in the world. This latest news regarding their office base in London is an important building block to consolidate its business position.
