Ashford Kent, UK Monday 22 October, 2007, The Inkerman Group, a specialist risk, intelligence and investigation company, with offices in Ashford, London and Köln, have announced that they have acquired TASK International.

TASK International is a market leader in the field of bespoke personal protection and related security services, with a uniquely accredited training, support and consultancy service providing value add to its clients both within UK as well as Internationally.

Gerald Moor, CEO of The Inkerman Group, commented "TASK International fits into The Inkerman Group's product portfolio exceptionally well and will delivery additional qualitative services and solutions to our clients. We now have the advantage of being both an operating and training company allowing us a unique proposition to offer our clients and the marketplace. We will build on the excellent reputation that both The Inkerman Group and TASK International already have to develop, train and help employ more people into the Security Industry".

TASK International offers a wide range of specialist training courses with a strong emphasis for government organisations, companies and high-grade individuals worldwide. The main TASK International Training centre is located at the International Study Centre, Herstmonceux Castle ("The Castle"), East Sussex, United Kingdom. Training courses are also conducted nationally and internationally.

Mark Harry, Director of Training, Task International, commented "We are extremely excited to be joining one of the leading companies in the Security Industry. The Inkerman Group is a market leader in its own right and together with its strong brand, TASK's current UK and International customers will benefit from the combined strength of the two companies. Together we form a formidable partnership."
